DYNAMIC DUO Brothers Harry and Dan Skelton

SKELTONS HUNT MORE WINNERS

BORY DELARGY

1:50 Huntingdon - Class 4 (0-110) Handicap Chase 2m3f137y

A FAIRLY modest bunch, the majority of whom are exposed and struggling to find much in the way of form, means it's the two unexposed runners from big yards that most catch the eye.

Olly Murphy's top weight Kenzoko caught the eye at Uttoxeter last time out when staying on until sixth to Jasmine D'Airy, for that reads well enough, but the handicapper has hardly been kind with an opening mark of 100, for all the race isn't the toughest to start off with.

Maybe the one for today, particularly as he steps up in trip, is ALBIE LITTLEWOOD. Dan Skelton's six-year-old has had three relatively quick runs over shorter in the autumn to get himself handicapped for this, and this half-brother to Roksana is going to be suited by this 2m4f trip.

I'd expect a better showing today and he wouldn't need to improve an awful lot on what he's achieved so far to take a big hand in the finish.

2:00 Lingfield - Class 6 (0-60) Handicap 7f1y

Latin finally landed the odds for his supporters at Southwell on Friday night after a series of short-priced defeats, but it was still hard work and a 5lb penalty, plus a drop back a furlong in trip means he's worth taking on today.

There's a ready-made alternative in the shape of MY BOY PADDY, who just failed to get his head in front over this C&D last time out, his run coming just too late after finding himself short of room.

That represented his best run this winter so far and the handicapper will give him a rise for it, so off the same mark today his chance looks obvious. He'll need a strong pace but that looks likely, and he is expected to get on top late on.

TIME TO FACE THE FACTS...

BY ADAM MORGAN

JP McManus is eager to find out if Fact To File can end his near 50-year wait for an elusive Ladbrokes King George VI Chase triumph.

The St Stephen's Day showpiece at Kempton is one of the very few prizes to elude the legendary owner, whose losing run in the event dates back to 1978, when Jack Of Trumps was second, a position he would again fill 12 months later.

However, this year he has a formidable ally on his side in the form of dual Cheltenham Festival winner Fact To File, who will lock horns once again with Willie Mullins-trained stablemate and John Durkan conqueror Gaelic Warrior.

"The King George is always an exciting race and it's nice to have a runner good enough to be one of the favourites, so we keep our fingers crossed," said McManus, inset.

"We'll know if it was the right race for him (afterwards) and it would be lovely to tick this race off. I'd love to win the King George."
